

I'm Really Sorry, Lishara!

Hey Lishara, I know I messed up big time.

I shared your photo without your permission through Apsha, and I realize now how wrong that was.

You trusted me, and I broke that trust.

I feel terrible about it.

MOST IMPORTANT:

Please forgive me! Let this moment remind you that everyone makes mistakes, but real friends own up to them and do better. I promise to NEVER do something like this again!

Your privacy and trust are extremely important to me.

Why I'm apologizing:

- I violated your privacy by sharing your personal photo
- I didn't ask for your permission first
- I understand this broke your trust in me
- I take full responsibility for my actions

What I promise going forward:

â I will NEVER share any of your photos/videos without permission

â I will respect your privacy completely

â I will ask before sharing anything about you

â I will be the friend you deserve

Please forgive me, Lishara.

You mean so much to me, and I regret hurting you.

I hope we can rebuild this friendship stronger than before.

With sincere apologies,

Your Friend

This document was created with genuine remorse.

Your privacy matters. Your trust matters. YOU matter.